Stages of review and development of training packages

Project Background

- All states and territories have their own legislation and regulation relating to the Responsible Service of Alcohol
- Reviewing the Unit of Competency to ensure it is up-to-date
- Working toward an RSA Unit of Competency that can be used across all jurisdictions to better meet industry needs
- The update will address three key points:
 - Cross-jurisdictional consistency of training
 - Changes to regulation regarding RSA
 - Changes to training practices in relation to RSA

Project Background

- Updating one Unit of Competency:
 - SITHFAB002 Provide responsible service of alcohol
- And one Skill Set:
 - SITSS00055 Responsible service of alcohol
 - This skill set contains only the unit SITHFAB002 as above
- Noting that the Unit SITHFAB002 is a prerequisite for many other hospitality Units of Competency

Draft 1 content – What has changed?

- Updates to terminology – e.g. adding “supply” to reflect QLD regulations
- Clarifying that RSA must be carried out according to house policies, in order to cater to a range of outlets
- Updates to Performance Criteria and Performance Evidence to remove unnecessary demonstration of tasks such as pouring standard drinks
- Updates to Knowledge Evidence for currency and clarity
- Updates to Assessment Conditions to better reflect new content
