Key considerations

- industry and policy reform
- recreation and aquatic management changes since 2015
- impact of COVID 19
- career progression
- skills staff shortages
- superseded or deleted units

Key foci

- job role alignment to sport, fitness, aquatic and recreation sectors
- flexibility in qualifications
- multi-skilled graduates
- units contain clear, relevant and quality content
- flexible packaging rules
- remove duplication

The update will include:

- 6 Qualifications → 5 Qualifications
- 49 Units of Competency → 43 Units of Competency
- 3 Skills Set → 3 Skills Sets

Units of Competency

- statements about the skills and knowledge a particular job function
- describe work outcomes

- use of simpler workplace language
- re-ordered
- missing skills included

Foundation Skills

- include more detailed explanation
- address specific workplace requirement not explicit in unit
- relevant skills level for language, literacy, numeracy & employment skills

Knowledge Evidence updated

- missing required knowledge added
- more detail about the scope of knowledge required
- re-sequenced to follow the order of the content of the unit
- tailored to each unit – reducing broad general statements
- clearer for trainers and assessors to understand

Performance Evidence

- clear, measurable and auditable
- detail on type and sufficiency of evidence
- consistent use of program and sessions
- number of client programs or sessions

Assessment Conditions

- Environment
 - the workplace, or
 - a simulated workplace set up for the purpose of skills assessment.
- Resources
 - equipment
 - clients
 - various paperwork

Assessment Conditions

SISCAQU022 Plan swimming lessons

Assessors must:

- satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations' requirements for assessors, and
- have a collective period of at least two years' experience working as a swim teacher, where they have applied the skills and knowledge covered in this Unit of Competency; the two years' experience can incorporate full- and part-time experience.
